

► ISO 9654

- Suitable for miniature electronic components.
- Flush-cut model is longer for increased reach.

55g.

Zoom

Zoom

Zoom

Zoom

Zoom

▼ Dessins Techniques

▼ Données Techniques

|        |  Cu - Ni wire | Fe wire 30 HRc                                                                      | Cut                                                                                 |
|--------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|        | Ø mm                                                                                             | Ø mm                                                                                |                                                                                     |
| 405.8E | 0,2 - 1                                                                                          | 0,5                                                                                 |  |
| 406.8E | 0,1 - 1                                                                                          |  |  |
| 407.8E | 0,1 - 1                                                                                          |  |  |