

A detailed cross-sectional diagram of a multi-cylinder internal combustion engine. The diagram shows the crankshaft at the bottom, with connecting rods linking it to the pistons in several cylinders above. The pistons are shown in various stages of their stroke, with some at the top and others at the bottom. The engine block and cylinder head are shown in a grey, metallic texture.

[illegible]