ID or access cards are not often carried on their own. Usually, cards are held in a holder attached to a clip or a chain. Recognising that different users have varying requirements, the Databac Group manufactures and supplies over 200 wearing accessories, from badge holders to neck chains, to display cards in a variety of ways.

Manufactured predominantly in-house, Databac's card accessories include badge clips, chains, necklaces, lanyards, armbands and special card holders to protect badges. Rigid card holders allow users to remove and insert their card with a minimum of fuss. Standard vinyl pouches with chains or clips are ideal for conferences, seminars or trade shows. Databac's range comes in various colours and sizes, with adhesive backs or pockets on both sides.

Magnetic badge holders securely hold ID cards without damage to clothing. With a choice of 21 colours, these holders are made to last from virgin vinyl with two permanent magnets for greater holding power. No clips or pins are needed, preventing damage to clothing. The holders are available with shielded magnets which do not affect magnetic stripes. As with most of Databac's accessories, company names and logos can be imprinted.

Breakaway nylon neck cords are designed to 'snap' off when pulled, particularly useful for nursing staff. Printed with company logos and text, these are ideal for events and trade shows. Yo-yos (or skizips) hold the card on a cord which extends to reach readers, but retracts when released. Armbands and wrist coils keep cards conveniently out of the way of physically active personnel who need to keep their hands free.

In addition to card wearing accessories, the Databac Group can offer:

- Photo and slot hole punches
- Manual/electric card cutters
- Badge racks
- Magnetic head cleaning products
- Label supplies
- Lamination pouches and roll-film
- Pouch and roll laminators
- Polaroid film
- Video and digital cameras
- Document pouches (A5, A4, A3)
- Security vehicle windscreen stickers and more.

Printers

The Databac Group is a leading distributor of printers for card production. These include video printers, thermal and paper label printers, laser printers (for laser photo ID) and dye sublimation direct card printers. Databac is authorised to resell and support the Fargo, Datacard, Magicard, Nisca and Javelin printer ranges.

Used for electronic photo ID, direct card printers are the latest advance in in-house card production, putting end users in control of the application.

Cards can be produced either in batch or simply when required, for issuing visitor or contractor cards, for example. In addition, Databac is able to supply a full complement of ribbons, spare parts, cleaning kits and more. To ensure the smooth operation of the printer, a telephone hotline or call-out service is available.
