

A 3D perspective rendering of a custom PCB assembly. The base is a yellow PCB with a central cutout. A black component, likely a connector or module, is mounted on the PCB. The component has a series of gold-plated pins on its top surface and a series of silver pins on its bottom surface. The assembly is shown on a white surface.