PRV679

- High density minimizes area required for network layout, freeing up valuable floor space
- Curved cable management fingers support cables as they transition to the vertical pathway eliminating the need for horizontal managers
- Individual fingers can be removed without the use of a tool for routing of large cable bundles
- Fingers align with rack spaces simplifying cable routing
- Slack management spools organize and manage patch cord slack allowing standardization of patch cords
- Optional hinged doors provide easy access to vertical pathway; purchased separately from manager
- Available in 6.5', 7' and 8' versions
