

Technical drawing of a Panduit probe. The drawing includes a side view and a cross-sectional view. The side view shows a long, thin probe with a tapered tip. Dimensions are labeled as follows: A is the length of the main body, B is the length of the tapered tip, C is the length of the handle, D is the thickness of the handle, E is the width of the handle, and F is the total length. The cross-sectional view shows the internal structure of the probe, including a central channel and a surrounding sheath. The word "PANDUIT" is printed on the handle.
