

Customers should verify actual device performance in their specific applications.